

CLIMATE CHANGE: FULL OF HOT AIR?

A seminar given by Dr Andrew Wallace as part of the "Soundings" Seminar Series

Dr. Andrew Wallace joined Al Gore's Climate Reality Project in 2014. He recently retired from the role of Senior Lecturer in the School of Education, Charles Sturt University as teacher and researcher, with a passion for the environment. In 2013, Dr. Wallace was Visiting Scholar at the University of Edinburgh, and worked with education and scientific institutions in the UK, France and USA, with special reference to anthropogenic impacts on climate change and sustainability. He has been honoured by the university for his work, and has won national awards for his teaching on sustainability and the social sciences.

Sunday 9th August 2015
3:30pm for 4:00pm, All Saints Church Hall
Ambrose Street, Hunters Hill

"Soundings" is a series of talks and seminars touching on the important issues of our day. It is hosted by the Anglican Parish of Hunters Hill. All are welcome to come and participate. We conclude with drinks and nibbles.
